Vocal Coaching & Guest Artist Visits

One-on-one coaching and guest teaching for singers, grounded in classical training and the Alexander Technique

I coach singers one-on-one, drawing on classical training and Alexander Technique principles to build freedom, ease, and expression in the voice. I also visit schools, studios, and music programs as a guest artist, sharing the repertoire I know and love: Spanish and Latin American art song, and the craft of singing with ease and presence.

The coaching

One-on-one lessons in my private studio in the MetroWest area, shaped around each singer: their goals, their repertoire, and how they sing. We work on technique and expression together, with the Alexander Technique woven through, so the voice can grow freer rather than more forced.

Coaching suits singers preparing auditions, performances, and recitals, as well as anyone returning to their voice and wanting a grounded place to grow.

Guest artist visits

I visit schools, colleges, and music programs as a guest artist and teacher: coachings and classes in Spanish and Latin American art song, and sessions that bring Alexander Technique principles to singing and performing. Each visit is shaped with the program, from a single class to a day of coachings.

The visit
